billing period: the time between the last billing date and the current billing date for any charges applied to your account.

cash advance: Any of the following:

cash-like transaction: Any transaction involving the purchase of items directly convertible into cash, including wire transfers, money orders, bets, lottery tickets, gambling or casino gaming chips.

For certainty, it does not include the amount of any pending transactions that did not post to your account by the date your monthly statement was prepared.

payment due date: As shown on your monthly statement, the date when at least the minimum payment is due to be paid on your account. It may not fall on the same date each month.

2. Your agreement with us.

When you or an authorized user accesses your account for the first time, it means you have read and accepted the terms of this agreement and are able to request Cards, including renewal and replacement Cards. If we provided this agreement to you as an amendment or update to a previous agreement, the terms of this agreement shall apply on the date we indicate.

This agreement applies to your account and any Cards that we may issue for your account. You are responsible for ensuring that any authorized users understand and comply with this agreement. This Credit Agreement replaces any other Credit Agreement or customer agreement we may have sent to you for your account.

You confirm that you've requested this agreement and all communications and documents from us to be in English until you advise us otherwise. Vous confirmez que vous avez demandé que cette convention et toute communication ou tout document venant de nous soient en anglais jusqu'à avis contraire de votre part.

3. Your responsibility for the total debt.

You are liable under this agreement for all amounts owing on your account, including any indebtedness incurred by an authorized user. If more than one person submitted the application for your account you are each separately and jointly liable for all amounts owing on your account. The total debt that you owe consists of the amounts of all transactions charged to your account.

You can incur a debt on your account even if:

- Your credit limit is exceeded;
- Your Card is used after its expiry date; or
- Your account is used after it has been restricted or closed.

4. Using your account and Cards.

You can charge amounts to your account by using your Card along with your personal identification number (PIN) or by providing your signature on a sales receipt. We may also allow you to charge amounts in other ways, such as internet, mobile and/or contactless payments. Your Card may be used at any merchant that accepts Visa. We aren't responsible if your Card is not honored by a merchant or your account can't be used for any reason.

You can't use your account at any merchant or business located in the Crimea region of Ukraine, The Democratic People's Republic of Korea, Sudan, Iran, Syria or Cuba. We may update this list in the future without giving you notice.

You agree that you will use your Card and account for personal, family or household purposes only and not for any other purposes, including for business or commercial purposes. You may not use your account for any illegal, unauthorized or fraudulent purpose.

If your Card requires a signature, you must sign your Card as soon as you receive it. You must not use your Card after the expiry date shown on your Card. If you or an authorized user charge anything to your account after your Card has expired or your account is restricted or closed, you are responsible for paying the amount owing to us, together with any interest or fees, as applicable.

Digital Commerce Bank owns all Cards issued on your account and you can't transfer them to anyone else. You are the only person permitted to use your Card and an authorized user is the only person permitted to use their Card.

5. Authorized users.

You may add or remove authorized users by contacting us. Each request to add an authorized user is subject to our approval and we may limit the number of authorized users on your account.

An authorized user may make purchases and obtain cash advances in the same manner as you but isn't liable for any debt incurred on the account. You are responsible for repaying any charges an authorized user makes on your account, including any associated interest and fees.

We may provide information to an authorized user regarding transactions made on the account and the available credit limit, but an authorized user is not able to:

- Make any transactions other than purchases and cash advances;
- Give any instructions to us with respect to your account; or
- Update your account information.

We also do not send legal notices or disclosures to an authorized user.

6. Your credit limit.

Your credit limit is the maximum amount you (together with your authorized users) can charge to your account. Your initial credit limit will be provided to you via email prior to you receiving your Card and your current credit limit will appear on each monthly statement.

Each monthly statement also shows your current cash advance limit. Your cash advance limit is part of your total credit limit – it's not additional credit over and above the credit limit for your account. We may lower your credit limit at any time without telling you in advance, but we need your express consent to raise your credit limit.

We may allow you to exceed your credit limit, but we are not required to do so, even if we have done so previously. If your account is subject to an over limit fee for exceeding your credit limit, details of the fee are set out in the disclosure statement.

7. Foreign currency transactions.

We bill you in Canadian dollars when you use your Card to make a transaction in a foreign currency. The transaction amount will be converted to Canadian dollars using the Visa rate of exchange applicable at the time the transaction is processed. If your account is subject to a foreign currency conversion charge, details of the charge are set out in the disclosure statement.

If a foreign currency transaction is refunded to your account, the exchange rate for the refund may not be the same as the rate used when the original purchase was processed. As a result, the amount of the purchase and the refund may differ. If the amount of the refund is less than the amount of the purchase, you will be responsible for the difference.

8. Other services and benefits.

We may make non-financial benefits and services associated with your card available to you. These benefits and services are subject to the terms set by the companies that provide them and may be changed or cancelled with or without notice. We aren't liable for these benefits and services.

9. Rewards.

If your account is eligible for rewards, the features and terms of the rewards program will be described in the rewards program that is provided to you. By accepting this agreement, you agree to the terms and conditions of the rewards program, where applicable.

10. Fees we charge.

All the fees that we charge in connection with your account are set out in the disclosure statement.

11. Interest we charge.

The annual interest rates we charge are as follows:

- The interest rate applicable to purchases and standard balance transfers is 17.99%;
- The interest rate applicable to cash advances is 21.99%;
- Any promotional interest rates we may provide to you; or
- The default interest rate is 29.99% on all balances outstanding on your account until your account balance is paid in full.

We don't charge interest on purchases appearing on your monthly statement for the first time (new purchases) and standard balance transfers appearing on your monthly statement for the first time (new standard balance transfers) provided you pay your new balance in full within the grace period for the current and all previous months. For each new purchase and new standard balance transfer, the grace period is the period between the transaction date and the payment due date shown on the monthly statement on which the transaction first appears. For certainty, in each billing period you will have a grace period of at least 25 days before the payment due date.

If we don't receive payment of your entire new balance by the payment due date, you will be charged interest on each new purchase and new standard balance transfer, starting from the transaction date. Interest on purchases and standard balance transfers is charged until they are paid off. If you reside in Québec, we will not charge interest on any purchases and standard balance transfers for a billing period where you pay your new balance in full by the payment due date.

We will always charge interest on cash advances and special balance transfers. Interest on a cash advance or special balance transfer is charged 3 days from the transaction date until it's paid off. This means there is a 3 day interest-free grace period on cash advances and special balance transfers. For the purpose of interest calculation, fees for cash advances are treated as cash advances, fees for standard balance transfers are treated as standard balance transfers, and fees for special balance transfers are treated as special balance transfers. All other fees are treated as purchases.

12. How we calculate interest.

The amount of interest we charge on your monthly statement is calculated as follows:

- First, we add the amount you owe on each day during the billing period and divide that total by the number of days in the billing period. This is your average daily balance.
- Then we multiply the average daily balance by the applicable daily interest rate (obtained by taking the annual interest rate and dividing it by 365).

When more than one interest rate applies to your account, we calculate the interest charge based on the average daily balance that is applicable to each interest rate. Your monthly statement shows the interest rates applicable to your account and any associated interest charges. For a more detailed explanation of how we calculate interest for your account, please see the disclosure statement.

13. Your monthly statements.

We will provide you with a monthly statement for your account for each billing period. Your monthly statement will always be sent by email unless you have otherwise instructed for it to be sent by regular mail. There may be an additional fee to receive your statement by regular mail.

If you do not receive a monthly statement for any billing period, you must contact us or check your account balance through online banking. You are required to meet your payment obligations each billing period, even if you don't receive a statement due to a change in your contact information, email address, a postal disruption, an internet failure or for any other reason.

14. Telling us about statement errors.

You are responsible for informing us of any errors on your monthly statement. Subject to applicable law, if you don't notify us of an error within 30 days of receiving your statement, you accept the monthly statement and our records as accurate and complete.

15. Making payments to us.

You must make at least the minimum payment indicated on your monthly statement by the payment due date shown on that monthly statement. The method of calculating your minimum payment is set out in the disclosure statement.

Payments must be made in Canadian dollars. You can make payments on your account at any time using the following methods:

- By telephone or online banking through your financial institution;
- By mail, using the payment information provided on your monthly statement;
- By any pre-authorized debit service we may offer;
- By email money transfer to your account; and

- By using rewards points, if applicable.

All payments must be made in a form acceptable to us. Payments made by a cheque or money order must be drawn on a Canadian financial institution.

Depending on the payment method you choose, your payment may take several days to reach us and may be credited to your account after the payment due date. Keep this in mind when considering how and when to make your payment. We can accept late payments or partial payments, or cheques and money orders marked "payment in full" or other similar language, without losing any of our rights under this agreement.

If a payment through your financial institution doesn't clear, we will reverse the account credit and you will still owe us the amount of the payment, which will continue to incur interest, if applicable, until paid.

16. Applying your payments.

Any payments we receive up to and including the amount of your minimum payment will be applied in the following order:

- First, to any interest charges shown on your monthly statement;
- Second, to any fees shown on your monthly statement;
- Third, to any fees which have been charged to your account but have not yet been shown on a monthly statement; and
- Fourth, to any remaining balances shown on your monthly statement.

Within each of the above categories, if there are different annual interest rates that apply, the payment will be applied first to the amount with the lowest annual interest rate, and then to the other amounts in ascending order, based on their applicable annual interest rates.

If you pay more than your minimum payment, your excess payment will be applied to the remaining balance on your monthly statement as follows:

- First, we divide all the unpaid transactions shown on your monthly statement into groups. Transactions that share the same interest rate are placed into the same group.
- Second, we pro-rate your excess payment to those different interest rate groups. This means that the percentage of your excess payment we apply to a group is the same percentage that the balance in that group represents of the total remaining new balance. For example, if the balance in an interest rate group represents 60% of your total remaining new balance, we will apply 60% of your excess payment to that group.

If you pay more than your new balance, your excess payment will be applied to transactions that have not yet appeared on a monthly statement, using the same payment allocation method described above.

17. Pre-authorized payments

You are responsible for providing a merchant with whom you have set up a pre-authorized payment plan with correct and up-to-date information. This includes a change in account number or your Card's expiry date. You are also responsible for all charges to the Card until you have cancelled the pre-authorized payment plan with the merchant. We will not be liable for any pre-authorized transactions that cannot be posted to your account, and you are still liable to the merchant for making payment. It is your responsibility to contact a merchant when you want to cancel a pre-authorized transaction. You should check your monthly statements to ensure that cancelled transactions have been discontinued.

On cancellation of the Card or on the termination of this Agreement, you agree to notify the merchant that all future pre-authorized payments on the Card are to be immediately cancelled.

18. Telling us about changes to your contact information.

You must tell us immediately if the email, mailing, and/or residential address or phone numbers we have on file for you change. As set out in this agreement, different terms may apply to your account depending on your province of residence. If you change your province of residence, it may take up to 90 days after you notify us of such change to apply any different terms to your account. Any different terms that apply as a result of such change to your province of residence will not apply retroactively.

If we send a statement or a notice to you that's returned because of an invalid address, we won't issue further statements or notices to you until we receive a correct address. We may choose to restrict the use of your account, including access to online banking, until we've received the updated information. There are certain items, like Cards, which we may refuse to mail to an address that isn't in Canada.

19. Resolving transaction disputes.

If you have problems with anything you buy using your card or account number, you must pay the amount owing on your account and settle the problem directly with the merchant. You may not stop payment on any transaction. In some circumstances, we may be able to help in resolving disputed transactions. If you wish to discuss a transaction dispute, you may contact us toll-free at 1-844-200-0526.

20. Lost/stolen cards and unauthorized use of your account.

You must take reasonable care to safeguard your Card and PIN against loss, theft or misuse. You must contact us by telephone immediately:

- if your account number or Card is lost or stolen,
- if you believe your PIN has been compromised/obtained without your authorization, or
- if a person uses your account without your permission ("unauthorized use").

You have no liability to pay for any transaction entered into through unauthorized use of your account. You will also not be liable for unauthorized use that occurs after you notify us orally or in writing of the loss/theft of your Card or unauthorized use. To report a lost/stolen card or an unauthorized use, call 1-844-200-0526.

However, unauthorized use doesn't include use of your account by someone you've identified as an authorized user or someone you permitted to use your account, Card or PIN. You agree to cooperate and help with any investigation that we initiate into unauthorized use before we will consider reimbursing you for any losses. If our investigation establishes that there was no unauthorized use, you will be fully liable for all amounts charged to the account before you notified us.

21. Security funds.

In some cases, you may be asked to provide us with security funds, which we hold as collateral for payment of amounts you owe to us under this agreement. By providing us with security funds and accepting the terms of this agreement, you agree that if you're in default under this agreement, you authorize Plastk to set off (and effect compensation, if you're a resident of the province of Québec) and apply those funds against your obligations under this agreement (whether or not then immediately due and payable).

We can do all of this without notifying you or sending you a demand for payment. You also agree to the following:

- The security funds do not constitute a deposit with Plastk, and will be held in an account at a depository institution we select;
- You will have no right to access or withdraw the security funds, except as described below;
- Any interest earned on the security funds will become our sole property; and
- Security funds may be used to offset purchases or cash advances.

You represent that there are no lawsuits or bankruptcy proceedings that might affect our ability to withdraw and apply the security funds you provide, and you agree that you haven't and won't transfer or offer any interest in the funds to anybody other than Plastk. We will return any remaining funds to you at your last known address in our records within 60 days of the closing of your account, and the payment in full of your obligations under this agreement, whichever comes last.

22. Default & forfeiture of benefit of the term.

Your account will be in default under this agreement if you:

- Fail to meet the terms of this agreement;
- Become the subject of a bankruptcy or insolvency proceeding;
- Provide any false or misleading information; or
- Have legal action taken against your property.

If you're in default, we may, subject to applicable law:

- Terminate, modify or restrict your rights under this agreement, which could include closing your account;
- Demand that you immediately pay the balance of your account in full with interest at the applicable rate(s);
- Apply any balance that you have in any other account with us against the amount that you owe us under this agreement (whether or not the amounts are immediately due and payable), including any security funds or reward points, if applicable; or
- Increase your interest rate to the default interest rate of 29.99% per annum for all amounts outstanding without further notice.

If you're in default, you must also pay all legal fees reasonably incurred to collect or attempt to collect the balance of your account.

23. Restricting or closing your account.

You can close your account at any time by contacting us. We can suspend or restrict the use of your Card and account, reduce your credit limit or close your account at any time for any reason without notifying you first, even if you're not in default. If you've provided us with security funds, restricting or closing your account doesn't affect our rights to those funds.

If you close your account or we do, you must pay all amounts owing on your account, stop using your Card and destroy all Cards issued on the account. The terms and conditions in this agreement remain in effect until you pay the entire balance owing on your account or we notify you otherwise.

24. Changes to this agreement.

At our sole discretion, we can change any section of this agreement or the services that are available with your Card (and the terms and conditions relating to them) at any time. Where permitted by applicable law, any change to this agreement applies to both your outstanding and future debt.

We will provide you with notice of any change in writing at least 30 days before the change takes effect. Our notice will specify the date the change takes effect and will include either the old section and the newly amended section, or just the newly amended section. You can always refuse to accept a change by closing your account before the change takes effect. Where required by law, our notice will indicate that you can close your account and refuse the change up to 30 days after the change takes effect.

The continued use of your Card and account, means that you accept the new agreement as amended.

25. Assigning your account.

At any time, we may sell, transfer or assign any, or all of our rights and obligations under this agreement or your account without telling you in advance. You may not sell, assign or transfer any of your rights or obligations under this agreement, or your account.

26. No Warranties

We make no representations or warranties whatsoever, either express or implied, except as stated in this Agreement. We will not be liable for our inability to provide, in whole or in part, any features, benefits or services which are available in connection with your Card that are reasonably beyond our control. In addition, third parties will provide some of the benefits and services associated with the Card. These third parties, and not us, are responsible to you for the services and benefits offered or provided by them.

We will not be liable for any damages of any kind related to your use of the Card, or for any of the features, benefits or services available in connection with your Card, even if you have notified us in advance of such possible damages. In no event will we be responsible for the acts or activities of any third party. In addition, we shall in no way be liable for any accident, act of aggression, theft, loss or damage you may suffer while using an ABM.

No claim arising from this Agreement may be brought by you more than one (1) year after your disputed matter occurred. A longer period may apply if stipulated by applicable law.

27. Governing law.

This agreement will be interpreted in accordance with the applicable laws of the province or territory in which you reside (or the applicable laws of Alberta if you reside outside of Canada) and the applicable laws of Canada ("applicable law"). In the event of a dispute, you agree that the courts in the province or territory where you reside are competent to hear such dispute and you agree to be bound by any judgment of that court.

28. Non-waiver.

We may choose not to act on any right under this agreement without giving up that right. Any time we give up one of our rights, we will do so in writing and sign a waiver.

29. Severability.

If any part of this agreement is considered invalid, unenforceable or illegal under applicable law, the validity, enforceability or legality of the remainder of this agreement shall not in any way be affected or impaired.

30. No Coercive Tied-Selling

You cannot be unduly pressured to buy a product or service that you don't want from Plastk or anyone else in order for Plastk to provide another product or service to you.

31. Québec residents only – clauses required under the Consumer Protection Act.

The following provisions apply only if you reside in Québec and are a consumer as defined by Québec's Consumer Protection Act, chapter P-40.1 ("Consumer Protection Act").

Clause of forfeiture of benefit of the term.

Before availing itself of this clause, the merchant must forward the consumer a notice in writing and unless the merchant is exempted in accordance with section 69 of the General Regulation made under the Consumer Protection Act, the merchant must forward him a statement of account.

Within 30 days following the receipt by the consumer of the notice and, where necessary, of the statement of account, the consumer may:

- (a) either remedy the default; or
- (b) or present a motion to the court to have the terms and conditions of payment prescribed in this contract changed.

It is in the consumer's interest to refer to sections 104 to 110 of the Consumer Protection Act as well as to section 69 of the General Regulation made under the Consumer Protection Act and, where necessary, to communicate with the Office de la protection du consommateur.

Open credit contract for the use of a secured credit card.

(1) If a consumer uses all or part of the credit extended to make full or partial payment for the purchase or the lease of goods or for a service, the consumer may, if the open credit contract was entered into on the making of and in relation to the sale, lease or service contract, and if the merchant and the open credit merchant collaborated with a view to granting credit, plead against the lender any ground of defence urgeable against the merchant who is the vendor, lessor, contractor or service provider.

The consumer may also, in the circumstances described in the paragraph above, exercise against the open credit merchant, or against the merchant's assignee, any right exercisable against the merchant who is the vendor, lessor, contractor or service provider if that merchant is no longer active or has no assets in Québec, is insolvent or is declared bankrupt. The open credit merchant or the merchant's assignee is then responsible for the performance of the obligations of the merchant who is the vendor, lessor, contractor or service provider up to the amount of, as the case may be, the debt owed to the open credit merchant at the time the contract is entered into, the debt owed to the assignee at the time it was assigned to him or the payment the open credit merchant received if he assigned the debt.

(2) A consumer who is solitarily liable with another consumer for the obligations arising from an open credit contract is released from the obligations resulting from any use of the open credit account after notifying the merchant in writing that he will no longer use the credit extended and no longer intends to be solitarily liable for the other consumer's future use of the credit extended in advance, and after providing proof to the merchant, on that occasion, that he informed the other consumer by sending him a written notice to that effect at his last known address or technological address.

Any subsequent payment made by the consumer must be applied to the debts contracted before the notice was sent to the merchant.

(3) A consumer who has entered into a preauthorized payment agreement with a merchant under which payments are made out of credit obtained under a secured credit card contract may end the preauthorized payment agreement at any time by sending a notice to the merchant.

On receipt of the notice, the merchant must cease to collect the preauthorized payments.

On receipt of a copy of the notice, the card issuer must cease debiting the consumer's account to make payments to the merchant.

(4) The consumer is not liable for debts resulting from the use of a secured credit card by a third person after the card issuer has been notified, by any means, of the loss, theft or fraudulent use of the card or of any other use of the card not authorized by the consumer. Even if no notice was given, consumer liability for the unauthorized use of a secured credit card is limited to $50. The consumer is held liable for the losses incurred by the card issuer if the latter proves that the consumer committed a gross fault as regards to the protection of the related personal identification number.

(5) Without delay at the end of each period, the merchant must send the consumer a statement of account. The merchant is not required to send a statement of account to the consumer at the end of any period if there have been no advances or payments during the period and the outstanding balance at the end of the billing period is zero.

(6) If the consumer makes a payment at least equal to the outstanding balance at the end of the preceding billing period within 25 days after the date of the end of the period, no credit charges may be required from the consumer on that outstanding balance, except as regards to cash advances. In the case of a cash advance, charges may accrue as of the date of the advance until the date of payment.

The consumer may demand that the merchant send, without charge, a copy of the vouchers for each of the transactions charge to the account during the period covered by the statement. The merchant must send the copy of the vouchers requested within 60 days after the date the consumer's request was sent until the consumer receives a statement of account at his address or technological address if expressly authorized by the consumer, the merchant must not claim credit charges on the unpaid balance, except as regards money advances.

It is in the consumer's interest to refer to sections 103.1, 122.1, 123, 123.1, 124, 126, 126.2, 126.3, 127 and 127.1 of the Consumer Protection Act and, if further information is necessary, to contact the Office de la protection du consommateur.
